New book presents solutions to urgent problems of modern world

DUBAI, United Arab Emirates – In his new book, “Planetary Project: From Sustainable Development to Managed Harmony”( www.planetaryproject.com) (published by Xlibris UK), Aleksandr V. Bezgodov reveals the urgent problems of the modern world including the environmental crisis, the fall of the level of economic development, unfair distribution system of world income, hunger and poverty. More importantly, he presents a comprehensive program to address global issues and the transition to a harmonious development of the type of civilization, humanity and rescue association biosphere.

This book describes the essence of the “Planetary Project,” based on the critique of the concept of sustainable development. A model is proposed for solving global problems through global human unification aimed at saving the planet Earth from future cataclysms and catastrophe for present and future generations. The Planetary Project is in essence a paradigm of the world's harmonious development. It is based on an integrated economy and rent incomes from planetary and intellectual resources held in planetary ownership. The Planetary Project provides solutions to globalisation problems caused by unrestrained economic growth and one-sided development of some national economies.

“Planetary Project” is for anyone interested in global issues, the current economic and political situation as well as those who are concerned about the fate of the world, the environment, civilization, global society and the future of humanity.
